

Recommendation Letter

Hard times united Ukrainians as never before. As a Head of Partnerships of the biggest foundation, I can say that we receive tremendous support from different businesses. Addlium is not an exception.

My colleagues and I are amazed by how the Addlium team managed to use their sales and marketing skills and tools for non-commercial organisations. Due to their work, we got valuable contacts and network for partnerships and corporate donations. What is also important, awareness and trust among Western businesses are rising as well. Our aim is to build the same image of the “Come Back Alive” foundation abroad – in Europe and Overseas – as in Ukraine. This includes a lot of operations and I, as a former military commander, understand how important it is to build the processes and workflow correctly to achieve the results. They handle it with a bang.

All the work Addlium team does on a volunteer basis. We value their contribution in supporting our organisation, thus bringing Ukraine closer to victory. We are very thankful to Dmytro Suslov and his team, and sure you are as great business partners as you are citizens.
